Who Makes the Cut? Assessment in Surgical Training

This year's meeting will focus on all aspects of assessment in surgical training. It is open to all surgeons with an interest in surgical training.

The meeting will focus on current state-of-the-art assessment of trainees, with an emphasis on our current Workplace Based Assessments. We are joined by two international experts - Professor John Norcini is a world leader on assessment in training; and Dr Steven Yule from Harvard University is an expert on the assessment of non-technical skills in surgery. There will also be a focus on the assessment of surgical trainers, which is topical with impending GMC plans to approve all surgical trainers by 2016.

Abstracts

We invite submission of abstracts on all aspects of surgical training for this meeting. Abstracts can be submitted via the Education pages of the RCSEd website. Closing date is 5pm, 12 September 2014.

Surgical Crisis and 'Never Events' - recognise, understand, rescue and avoid Tuesday 21 October 2014

Prior to the FST Annual Meeting, RSM Regions, in association with The Royal College of Surgeons of Edinburgh (RCSEd) and the Clinical Human Factor Group, will host this one day symposium, also at RCSEd. Discounted fees are available for those attending both days.

For further information visit www.rsm.ac.uk/regions or contact regions@rsm.ac.uk.
